Part 8: Be Comfortable Not Knowing

It's okay to say,
"I don't know, but I know the One who does."

We all have situations in life where we don't see how it's going to work out. We study the facts, the numbers, the reports – and, let's face it, the odds are against us. We do our best to come up with a plan, to find a solution – but it looks impossible.

The fact is: There are some things God doesn't want us to know. He has the solution, but if He showed it to you right now, it wouldn't take any faith.

Say along with Moses, "_____"

Just because you don't know doesn't mean God doesn't have a plan.

Moses was comfortable not knowing. He had such a trust in God that he didn't have to understand how everything was going to work out. He didn't have to have all the details. He took it one step at a time.

Say along with Paul: “ _____ ”

“We know not what to pray.” (Romans 8:26)

The reason he could say this and not become worried is found two verses later.

“We know that all things work together for good for those who love God.” (Romans 8:28)

The way you can say “we know not” and not be worried is if you know all things are working for your good.

Don't let what you don't know keep you from trusting what you do know.

Say along with Abraham, “ _____ ”

In Genesis 12, God told Abraham to leave his country and take his family to a land that He would show him. It's interesting that God didn't tell him where he was going.

Not knowing is a test. What you do when you don't know will determine what God does next.
